KANSAS CITY, Mo. -- The Christmas spirit is already alive and well at the Ronald McDonald House. Wednesday evening, volunteers from Seasonal Concepts decorated Christmas trees at one of the local Kansas City homes.

Ronald McDonald Houses provide a home away from home for families with sick children in the hospital. Many times, their families are away from weeks at a time.

Volunteer decorators like Marc Acord say this is a great way to give back to the community: "They donated their time. They donated their talent. It was a great opportunity to come out here and see some smiles on some little kids' faces. It was absolutely wonderful. It warms your heart."

The decorators hope their gesture will provide hope to the Ronald McDonald families for the upcoming holidays.
